YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati authority tells how to dry up a corn or callus so it lifts off with fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of frezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of frezone cost very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any frezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Cure that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A Neat Story

A neat story in the current number of "Case and Comment," a law magazine, published at Rochester, N. Y., from the facile and spicy pen of Edgar White, of the Macon Republican tells in a decidedly readable way how a farmer got even and considerable more than even, with the Twin River Railroad and its trouble man for their somewhat doubtful means of avoiding payment for the killing of some of his stock.

Edgar, by the way, begins his story by quoting Judge Brownlee's poem that sent in to the Burlington's trouble man, brot prompt settlement, which ran as follows:

My donkey stood on a railroad side
Your train came whizzing by,
The driver grinned, and pulled 'er wide,
And knocked my mule sky high.

No sound of bel came o'er the hill,
No friendly warning toot,
And if you do not pay my bill—
by George! I'll enter suit.

Arabella Brown

Miss Arabella Simpkins Brown has just received a letter And not a girl in all the town is feeling any better. It was her valiant soldier boy, no heart was ever truer, Who filled her heart with brim- ming joy by promptly writing to 'er.

Somewhere in France he's camp- ing out, the jolly task awaiting Of putting Germany to rout be- fore it's time for skating. He's learning all the warrior's tricks, he tells Miss Arabella, So when the signal comes to mix he'll get the other fellow. He cannot tell her just the spot, where he will start the fight- ing.

For there's a censor who will not permit to fullsome writing. But Arabella knows full well her soldier boy's preparing To sound that good old rebel yell and give the Hun a scaring. In fact she'd bet a lot of tin, un- less her visions fool 'er He'll bring the trembling Kaiser in and put him in the cooler. And he will show the valiant French, so gallant and good looking.

The way to go and take the trench while breakfast is a- cooking. For Arabella Simpkins Brown is heartened by that letter. And not a girl in all the town can read the future better. She knows that boy will never cease to be the Prussian's menace. Until we see the dawn of peace and Wilhelm's name is Dennis.

Pain

Here is a message to suffering women, from Mrs. Kathryn Edwards, of R. F. D. 4, Washington Court House, Ohio. "I am glad to tell, and have told many women, what I suffered before I knew of Cardui and the great benefit to be derived from this remedy. A few years ago I became practically helpless..."

TAKE

Cardui

The Woman's Tonic

"I was very weak," Mrs. Edwards goes on to say, "and could not stoop without suffering great pain... Nothing seemed to help me until I heard of Cardui and began the use of it... I gradually gained my strength... I am now able to do all my work." If you need a tonic take Cardui. It is for women. It acts gently and reliably and will probably help you as it helped this lady.
